Services We Offer -

Through our Application Development and systems integration services, you can gain consulting and delivery expertise in both end-to-end systems integration and custom application development. Our services can help you drive innovation and expand into new markets while reducing overall costs.

Application Development

At RSPL, we help define your requirements, write specifications and design, develop, test and integrate software across multiple platforms — including Internet technologies — enabling your systems to function in new operating environments.

We follow one of two approaches to application development and integration:

- Full life-cycle application development, in which we assume start-to-finish responsibility for analysis, design, implementation, testing and integration of systems; or
- Cooperative development, in which our experts work with your in-house IT personnel to jointly analyze, design, implement, test and integrate new systems

A key facet of our offering is a suite of services to help you build and integrate sophisticated business applications and/or websites with your client server and legacy systems. We create and deploy robust, scalable and extensible architectures for use in a wide range of industries.

Our custom application development services include:

- Application design, development and implementation
- Systems integration/consolidation
- Re-engineering, performance tuning and porting services for existing systems
- Implementation of products
- Database administration and Migration
- Feasibility and requirement analysis for business case
